

UN Women National Committee UK Trustees

Laura Haynes

Chair

Laura is the founder and Chair of Appetite, an award winning strategic brand consulting firm, where her experience includes over 25 years helping organisations to embrace change, build and enhance culture and expand potential. This led Laura to develop the new brand-led approach to building sustainability in every organisation through “Business, on Purpose”, an Appetite initiative.

In addition to being Chair of UN Women National Committee UK, Laura is also a Director of FutureLondon Enterprises, a member of the Parliamentary Design Commission, a Fellow at the Royal Society of Arts (UK) and the Marketing Society (UK). Laura has previously held the position of Board Trustee of The Legacy List, set up in 2011 by Mayor Boris Johnson to support the legacy of the London 2012 Olympic and Paralympic Games; a Board Director of ArtsCommons, formerly Epcor Centre for the Performing Arts, Chair of Alberta Ballet (Canada), and the President of the DBA, the UK design industry trade association.

Karen Parker

Vice Chair

Karen is an executive coach and mentor. She utilises her substantive experience as a senior international director with an exceptional track record as a leader and trusted advisor within the Financial Services, Luxury Brands and Pharmaceutical sectors. Having operated globally, in publicly traded and private companies, Karen has successfully collaborated with CEO's, executive and non executive teams to lead significant global business transformation programmes.

With a specialist HR background, Karen has operated as a broad based, commercially savvy leader, achieving business growth in complex organisations where talent is critical to business success. Driving strategic, organisational and cultural change whilst retaining key talent is a core strength. Karen has influenced the successful development of a range of organisations through building exceptional relationships with leadership teams – coaching, advising and guiding on strategy, structure, people and performance. Karen has also consistently championed the role of women in business through her tenure as Chairman of Credit Suisse's European Women's Network as well as through sponsorship of a broad range of diversity and inclusion programmes in each of the organisations she has worked within.

Sarah Dembitz
Executive Director

Sarah Dembitz founded, grew and successfully sold her healthy snack box subscription company www.savioursnacks.com. The company's hybrid acquisition model provided her with substantial experience in creating both a consumer facing brand and winning a spectrum of corporate clients.

Prior to launching Saviour Snacks, Sarah's focus was helping businesses to create growth (via sales, marketing & branding). She was a member of the UnLtd Futures Incubator programme and a 2013 fellow of the London Start-Up Leadership Programme. She has an MBA, a PgDip in Broadcast Journalism and holds a BA Hons degree in History of Art from University College London.

A strong believer in creating profits with purpose – Sarah is incredibly passionate about the importance of the work of UN Women and raising its profile in the UK.
